Telephone	0300 777 0707 operates 24 hours a day
Email	hpft.spa@nhs.net

Gas Emergency

If you smell gas and suspect a gas leak, evacuate the building immediately. Do not switch any lights on or off, stay calm and phone 0800 111 999 to report it. Don't go back into the property; wait for advice from the emergency services.

Power Cut

If there is an unexpected power cut, phone 105 or 0800 316 3105 to report it and find out when power will be restored. If you are hard of hearing, text Relay to 18001.

Water leaks and blocked drains

Any water leak on private property is the responsibility of the property owner, so contact your landlord or hire an emergency plumber. If there is a blocked drain that only serves your property, contact your landlord or hire a drain clearance company, but if the pipe affected is shared with other properties Thames Water is responsible.

To report a burst water main or a blocked sewer shared with other properties:

Telephone	Water leaks: 0800 714 614 freephone, 24 hours a day Sewers: 0800 316 9800 freephone, 24 hours a day
Report online	www.thameswater.co.uk/help/emergencies

Police non-emergency

Phone 101. You can also ask for an appointment with one of the officers on the local police Safer Neighbourhood Team, who work to prevent crime and anti-social behaviour in your neighbourhood.

Libraries

Run by Hertfordshire County Council, public libraries offer books, including large print and audio books. You can also borrow DVDs, CDs, music scores and magazines, or use information resources for research, including family and local history.

Photocopy, fax and scanning facilities are available. There are free computer and internet facilities for all library members, and one-on-one computer lessons for beginners at Cheshunt and Hoddesdon libraries.

All the libraries have wheelchair access and have a hearing induction loop at the enquiry desk. Cheshunt and Goffs Oak Libraries have disabled parking and Hoddesdon Library has an accessible toilet.

Assistive technology: Cheshunt and Hoddesdon Libraries both have an electronic magnifier with background and text colour options and a computer with Supernova, advanced magnification and screen reading software. These PCs have large screens, wheelchair accessible benching, large print keyboards and rollerball, touch screen and joystick mice.

Hertfordshire Libraries will pay for RNIB Talking Book Service subscriptions for customers who meet the eligibility criteria. Their large print, Braille and Moon catalogue is also free to access if you have a visual impairment

Online services: Use the reference resources, read newspapers and magazines online, learn a language or take a course. Ask a librarian any questions using the online form:

Home library service

Books and recordings are delivered free of charge to customers who are unable to reach their local library. The service is for residents who are registered blind, or are frail or in poor health, or who have a learning disability or a mental health condition that makes it difficult to leave home alone. Carers who look after someone affected in any of these ways and whose caring responsibilities prevent them from getting to the libraries may also receive the service.

Apply for the service online at: www.hertfordshire.gov.uk/homelibrary
